The House and Senate revert to their normal schedule of Tuesday through Thursday this week and every following week in March until Friday, March 27. March 27th will be the final day for committees to consider substantive bills. This week, House committees will hear House bills and Senate committees will consider Senate bills.

Substantive bills are bills which create, change, or modify laws. Another way to describe a substantive bill is that it is not an appropriation bill. The appropriation process starts with the presentation of the budget by the Governor and then proceeds through the spring on a different schedule than substantive bills. Both substantive and appropriation bills must go through committee in both chambers and be approved by floor action in both chambers before the bills are presented to the Governor for his action.

Legislation new to the report and changes in bill status are highlighted in yellow. If you should have any questions, or need additional information, please feel free to contact us.
